— How the Key Ingredients Work

This concentrated saw palmetto formula brings together two time-honored ingredients — saw palmetto berry extract and olive oil — to support prostate comfort, healthy urinary flow, and balanced hormones as men age. Together they work gently with your body to help you feel your best day after day.

Saw Palmetto Berry Extract (Concentrated) — The star of this formula, saw palmetto has been used for generations to support a healthy prostate and comfortable urinary flow. Research shows it may help ease the need to go frequently, reduce nighttime bathroom trips, and support a more complete, satisfying flow — making everyday life feel more manageable for men as they age.

Saw Palmetto — Prostate Size Support — One of the most studied reasons men turn to saw palmetto is its ability to support normal prostate size. By helping keep certain hormonal activity in check, it may help the prostate stay at a comfortable size, which in turn supports easier, more relaxed urination and less of that frustrating sense of urgency or pressure.

Saw Palmetto — Testosterone & Hormonal Balance — As men get older, hormonal shifts can affect energy, mood, and vitality. Saw palmetto is thought to help support healthy testosterone levels by slowing the conversion of testosterone into a more potent form that can affect the prostate and hair follicles. This makes it a popular choice for men navigating the natural changes of hormonal aging, sometimes called andropause.

Saw Palmetto — Urinary Flow (Men's) — Struggling with a weak or interrupted urinary stream is something many men experience as they age, but it doesn't have to be the norm. Saw palmetto has been shown in multiple clinical reviews to help improve urinary flow, reduce the feeling of incomplete emptying, and support overall bladder comfort — helping men feel more confident and in control.

Saw Palmetto — Hair Thinning Support — Thinning hair is often tied to the same hormonal activity that affects the prostate. Because saw palmetto helps slow the conversion of testosterone into DHT — a compound that can shrink hair follicles — it may also support thicker, healthier-looking hair over time. Studies have noted improvements in hair quality, density, and count with regular use.

Saw Palmetto — Andropause Support — Andropause, the gradual hormonal shift men experience with age, can bring changes in energy, mood, urinary comfort, and sexual wellness. Saw palmetto addresses several of these areas at once, making it a well-rounded choice for men who want natural support through this life stage without relying on harsh interventions.

Saw Palmetto — Bladder Comfort — Beyond the prostate itself, saw palmetto supports the broader urinary system, including the bladder. Men dealing with frequent urges, nighttime waking, or a sense that the bladder never fully empties may find meaningful comfort with regular saw palmetto use, as shown in clinical trials involving thousands of men over extended periods.
